MINUTES

Of the Proceedings in Parliament.

Friday January 10. 1701.

Prayers said,

Rolls called,

Minutes of the last Sederunt read.

THe Consideration of the Affair of the Company of Scotland trading to Africa and the Indies again resumed, and a Proposal made, That it be resolved, that the Votes and Proceedings of the Parliament of England, and their Address presented to His Majesty in December 1695, in relation to an Act of this Parliament establishing our Indian and African Company, and the Address of the House of Lords presented to his Majesty in February last, were an undue Intermeddling in the Affairs of this Kingdom, and an Invasion upon the Sovereignty and Independency of our King and Parliament, The Resolve was read. Moved that the Address from the Lords and Commons of the Parliament of England presented in December 1695 with their Votes and Proceedings past at that time, and also the Address of the House of Lords presented in February last, be all read, and the same were accordingly read; thereafter the foresaid Resolve being again read, It was put to the Vote, Approve the same or not, and carried Approve nemine contradicente.

An other Resolve proposed in the Terms following, viz. Resolved that the Memorial presented in his Majesties Name as King of Great-Brittain to the Senate of Hamburgh, the seventh day of April 1697, by Sir Paul Rycant then Resident in that City, and Mr. Cresset His Majesties Envoy extraordinary at the Court of Lunenburgh, was most unwarrantable, containing manifest falshoods, and contrary to the Law of Nations, injurious to His Majesty, an open Ineroachment upon the Sovereignty and Independency of this Crown and Kingdom, the occasion of great Losses and Disappointments to the said Company, and of most dangerous Consequence to the Trade of this Nation in all time coming, Read, Moved, that the said Memorial given in by the said Resident and Envoy to the Senate of Hamburgh, be likewise read, and the same was accordingly read, and after reasoning, it was put to the Vote, Approve the said Resolve, or not, and carried Approve nemine contradicente.

An other Resolve proposed in these terms, viz. Resolved, that the Proclamations emitted in the English Plantations in April, May, June and September 1699, against our Indian and African Company, and Collony of Caledonia, were, and are Injurious and Prejudicial to the Rights and Liberties of the said Company, and that the Execution of these Proclamations against the Adventurers sent out by the said Company, was Inhumane, Barbarous, and contrary to the Law of Nations, and a great occasion of the Loss and Ruine of our said Collony and Settlement of Caledonia, read.

Moved, that the Proclamations emitted by the respective Governours of the English Plantations in the West Indies in the saids Months of April, May, June ~~June~~ and September 1699, Discharging all Correspondence with any persons fitted out from Scotland, or to furnish them any Provision or Necessaries whatsoever, either in their own Vessels, or any other Ships for their use, may be all read, and the same read accordingly.

And a Motion being made, to add to the last part of the said Resolve, the words Proclamation and their Execution. After Reasoning, the Question was stated, add the said words or not, and carried in the Negative. And the said Resolve being again read: It was put to the Vote, Approve the same or not, and carried Approve nemine contradicente.

Another Proposal made for a Resolve, that who ever have advised his Majesties Answer to the Address of the Parliament of England against our Indian and African Company in the year 1695, or have advised or promoted the Injuries done to this Nation by the Hamburgh Memorial and Proclamations in the West Indies, are enemies to this Kingdom, and have done what in them lay to creat Jealousies and Animosities betwixt the two Kingdoms, and if Subjects of this Kingdom, are Traitors to the King & Country, and when discovered, ought to be prosecuted accordingly, Read, and after some debate the Presenter of the said Resolve craved leave to withdraw it, which was allowed.

Further Proposed, That there be a Resolve in the terms following, viz. Resolved that our Indian and African Companies Colony of Caledonia in Darien in the Continent of America, was a legal and rightful Settlement, precisely in the terms of the Act of Parliament and Letters Patent establishing the Company, and that the Parliament will assist and support the said Company in the lawful prosecution of their Right thereto, as holding of the Crown of this Kingdom, read, and the farther consideration thereof adjourned.

Ordered, That the Committees meet to Morrow at Nine a Clock in the Morning.

The Lord Chancellor by order of his Majesties high Commissioner, Adjourned the Parliament till to Morrow at Ten a Clock.

Moved, that it be recommended to the Secretaries of State to present the Address from the Estates of Parliament to his Majesty, anent the Business of the Indian Company, and their Colony of Caledonia; And the same agreed to.

Declaration by the Earl of Morton presented, whereby for the Causes therein mentioned, he sists farther Proces till the next Session of Parliament, in the Action at his instance against the Officers of State, read, and ordered to be marked in the Minuts of that Proces.

Moved, that the Proces at the instance of Lieutenant-Collonel John Erskine against the Countess of Kincardine, to insist for discussing her Protest for remeas of Law, taken against the Decreet of Sale of the Estate of Kincardine, be remitted to be determined by the Lords of Session summarly, with a parliamentary Power.

Moved, that conform to the Order of Parliament mentioned in the last days Minuts, the Estates separat and make Election of three of each State for the Commission of Parliament anent the Pole 1693; Whereupon the Estates having separat to their usual places, returned and reported their several Elections, as follows, viz. Of the Estate of the Nobility the Earls of Lauderdale, London and Leven. Of the Estate of Barrons, Sir Francis Scot of Thirlstane, Sir Alexander Monro of Bearcrofts, and Patrick Murray of Livingstoun. Of the commissioners for Burghs, Sir Archibald Muir, Mr. James Hamilton, Sir William Hamilton.

Thereafter the Act and Commission to the persons above-named anent the said Pole 1693 again read; Moved, that it be remitted to the said Commission to consider the Arrears due to the disbanded Officers of the Army, and to examine how the Fonds granted by the Parliament for the use of the Army has been disposed on, and also to consider the Project of Land Credit offered by Dr. Chamberlain, and make report of the saids particulars to the next Session of Parliament: Also moved, that the said Commission be first constitute, and voted before any new Remits be offered to the same, and the said said Act and Commission being again read, it was put to the Vote, approve, or not, and carried approve.

Again moved that the Parliament remit the said Proces at the instance of Lieutenant-Collonel Erskine, against the Countess of Kincardine to be discussed summarily by the Lords of Session with a parliamentary Power. Also moved that the Proces at the instance of the Laird of Pourie against the Lord Gray and others, being the like case, may also be remitted to be discussed as aforesaid: Likewise moved, that the matter of Arrears and Accompts of the Fonds given for the use of the Army, be remitted to the said Commission of Parliament, in order to be considered and reported, and a state of a Vote given in thereanent, and craved to be read, and a debate arising, which of the saids Motions should be preferred, after much reasoning, it was moved by order of his Majesties high Commissioner, that the Act Salvo Jure should be read.

Whereupon the Duke of Hamilton protested, that he had been interrupted in speaking and offering the foresaid State of the Vote upon the Proposals anent the Arrears and Fonds, by the making and insisting in the said Motion anent Lieutenant-Collonel Erskines Proces, and the stoping the reading of his State of the Vote anent the Arrears, and that the calling for the Act Salvo Jure was contrary to the Act of Parliament, allowing free Reasoning and Voting in Parliament, and thereupon took Instruments.

The Marquis of Tweeddale, Earl Marischal and Viscount of Strathallan, did also Protest that they were in like manner interrupted, contrair to their Priviledge as Peers and Members of Parliament, and thereupon took Instruments.

The Viscount of Seafeld Lord Secretary protested, that seeing the Remit of Lieutenant Collonel Erskines Proces was first Tabled and Spoke to by several Members, and that he going on to second the same; and also to Speak to Pouries Proces, who is in the same case with Lieutenant-Collonel Erskine, was interrupted by the Proposal of the Arrears; and likewise by offering a Vote upon the said Proposal, before it had been spoke to, the same was contrair to his Priviledge as a Peer and Member of Parliament.

After reading of the Act Salvo, the Viscount of Seafeld renewed his Protest, and took Instruments; whereupon the Duke of Hamilton did again take Instruments, that the Viscount of Seafeld had entered his Protest after the reading of the Act Salvo, which was against Form; which the Viscount denying to be against Form, protested in the contrary.

His Majesties Thesaurer-deput Declared, that he having made a Proposal for remitting the Proces at the instance of Lieutenant-Collonel Erskine to the Session, and that before the Parliament did separate, to choise the Members of their Commission about the Pole 1693, which he understood to have been granted; but finding by some Members of Parliament, that the same was not acquiesced in, he after the Report of the said Election, and Voting of the said Act and Commission, renewed his Proposal, and craved the same might be put to a Question, Remit or not; and after some Reasoning thereupon, and the Vote being ready to be put, was unduely interrupted by bringing in a Proposal anent the Arrears, and offering a State of the Vote upon it; the said Thesaurer-deput protested, that the offering of a new Business before the other was determined, was an incroachment upon his Priviledge and the order of Parliament, whereupon he took Instruments.

The

The Earl of Buchan adhered to the Protest made by the said Thesaurer-deput, and also took Instruments.

Thereafter the State of the Vote offered by Duke Hamilton anent the Remit of the Arrears, and the Fonds given for their Payment was read, viz. That it be remitted to the Commission of Parliament presently chosen, to take tryal of all the Fonds laid on by the Parliament, since the year 1693 inclusive, and how the same have been applyed; and to report the same, with the State of the Arrears, as well due to the Disbanded Officers, as to the present Standing Forces, to the next Session of this or any other Parliament. Also proposed, that the Act for renewing the Commission of Jusiciary for the Highlands being once read, and the said matter most necessary, and such as can occasion no debate be first proceeded in and past; and a Vote being craved and stated thereon, it was debated which of the said Motions should be first taken into consideration.

And thereafter moved, that for terminating the Debate, the Question should be, which of the two States shall be allowed: And this being also opposed, His Majesties high Commissioner did make the following Speech.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I was very desirous that the little time that remains might be spent about good Laws, and some privat Business before you; But when I saw debates arise about the Order and Preference of some Proposals, and that you were not like to come to a Conclusion, I called for the Act salvo Jure, and yet I did not insist upon it, but have had patience these four or five Hours to see if you would dispatch Business; But now it is late, and since you have not so much as come to a Vote, what Business to begin at: I must again call for that Act.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I confess I promised in his Majesties Name, that you should have time for other Business before you. And I appeal to the House if the time that has been spent about stating of Questions and Preference of Business might not if well Husbanded have served for this end. I Appeal to you also if I have not endeavoured to my outmost to make dispatch, for we have met every day for these several Weeks, and the Sessions have been much longer than usual and there were several good Laws Yesterday got a first Reading, which might have passed this day. I am sure I intended sincerely what I promised and I must put you in mind that you have now sat above three Moneths, the first two Months were intirely bestowed upon Laws before any thing was offered in Relation to the Forces and Supply; And I am sure you and I both expected that all the Business then before you might have been ended in less than a Moneth, which has been allowed you since: I have given you all the time I can, and if you have not managed it well enough, it is not my fault; you must all be convinced, That his Majesties Affairs cannot allow us to sit longer: Several important and good Laws are already passed, and such as are wanting of what was designed, may be overtaken at another time.

Thereafter the Act Salvo Jure Cujuslibet was again Read, Voted and Approved.

The

The Act and Commission anent the Pole 1693, and the Act Salvo Jure Cu-juslibet both touched by his Majesties high Commissioner with the Scepter in the usual manner:

The Lord Chancellor by Order of his Majesties high Commissioner, Adjourned the Parliament to meet at Edinburgh the first Tuesday of May next being the sixth day of the said Moneth, and declared the same to be Adjourn-
